Tuition and fees for master’s programs

This section contains all the information about tuition and fees for master’s degrees programs at the Universitat Politècnica de Catalunya. Applicable fees are 30,21 Euros for registration and 300 Euros as an advance payment for admission. A tuition surcharge will be applied to non-resident foreign students who are not nationals from

Registration fee

The registration fee for master’s programs is 30,00 Euros.

1) This fee must be paid for each registration to a master’s program managed by the Universitat Politècnica de Catalunya. If you register in more than one master’s program, you must pay 30 Euros for each registration.

2) The payment of this fee starts the process of registration in each of UPC master’s programs. The provision of this service is conditional upon the payment of the registration fee, therefore the process will not continue until this fee has been paid.

3) The way to pay the registration fee is through the secure payment platform that UPC makes available to students at the master’s programs registration web page, by credit card (VISA or MASTERCARD).

4) Please note that payments take up from 24 to 48 hours to be confirmed. In the event of any incident, you may send an email to sga.economica@upc.edu

5) The fees paid for registration are non-refundable, even if you are not admitted to any

Advance payment for admission

In order to confirm admission at a UPC master’s program in the academic year, newly admitted students must submit a 300,00 Euros non-refundable advance payment towards their tuition fees.

Advance payment for admission demonstrates the student’s commitment to study at the UPC. No partial or full refund will be made, unless the University is unable to provide the master's program offered.

All tuition and fees will be set in accordance with regulations established by the tuition and fees decree and the academic rules applicable in the academic year.

Advance payment for admission will be credited toward the student’s first tuition payment. There are no exemptions or reductions of the advance payment for admission. If at the point of enrolment the student provides evidence that supports his or her right to apply for tuition and fees waiver or reduction, in accordance with regulations established by the above mentioned decree or by the UPC budget, the refund of fees will be calculated taking into account the advance payment for admission.
In order to make the advance payment for admission you must enter the section (Forms and payments) at the UPC “e-secretaria” website.

The following forms of payment will be accepted:

1) By VISA/Mastercard credit card or Línia Oberta ("la Caixa")

2) By cash in one of the following financial institutions: • La Caixa • Caixa Catalunya • Banc Santander Central Hispano

You get five days to make your payment. The UPC will not issue any admission document until payment is confirmed by the financial institution. Only at this moment admission is considered formalized.

Tuition surcharge for non-resident foreign students who are not nationals from the European Union member states

This surcharge will be applied to non-resident foreign students, not nationals from the European Union member states who enroll in a university master's degree program. The cost of one credit will be 1.5 times the ordinary cost assigned to credits of level III master's programs by the tuition and fees decree.

The price charged for each credit had the surcharge been applied in the current academic year would have been about 78 Euros.

The surcharge will be waived on the following grounds, provided supporting documentation is submitted:

2) Foreign students from other countries who are able to prove permanent residence in Spain for more than five Years through a certificate issued by the Government Representation Office.
