YOUR 2013/2014 FACT FILE

Dear Maria Mercè,

For this tenth edition of the QS World University Rankings®, 90,000 survey responses have been collected, over 3,000 universities considered, over 800 evaluated, making this the largest and most extensive exercise of its kind.

We are delighted to inform you that the new look QS World University Rankings® 2013/2014 will be published on Tuesday 10th September on www.topuniversities.com, partner websites such as The Guardian, Chosun Ilbo, and other leading media around the world. In addition, there will be a launch event alongside the EAIE conference in Istanbul - get the full details and register here.

My team and I would like to thank you personally for the hard work you and your office undertake, which we realize can often go unappreciated. Without your efforts, we would be unable to conduct our work. By way of appreciation, please accept $250 to spend in the QSIU library. New country reports and other materials, will be uploaded in time for, or shortly after, our launch. Promotional code:

WUR2013FF (Valid until 31st October 2013)

IREG APPROVED

After a fifteen month process a number of QSIU ranking projects have come through the IREG Audit process and been deemed 'IREG Approved'. More details on the audit process can be found here.

QS has been the first international rankings compiler to volunteer to undertake the process. It seems only fair that we should be subjected to the same kind of transparency that we demand of the universities we evaluate.

QS INTELLIGENCE UNIT

The QS Intelligence Unit (QSIU) is the team behind the QS World University Rankings®. QSIU also publishes rankings at a regional level and in 30 separate subjects. For more details, including our methodologies, please visit www.iu.qs.com.

For detailed analysis of your own institution's performance and benchmarking with respect to selected others, please contact us on intelligenceunit@qs.com.
